

Council action expected on county police pact

BY HENRY CANTIN

Romulus City Council is expected to take formal action this week on a proposed law enforcement contract submitted by the Law Enforcement and Public Safety Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners is expected tomorrow to consider the proposed contract placing all police duties in Romulus under the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, paving the way toward a possible future metropolitan area police force.

The contract calls for a 24-hour police protection of the City of Romulus by the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol and the absorption of the present 10-man Police Department with the exception of the city's police chief.

The proposed law enforcement agreement first presented to Romulus City Council more than five months ago has since been revised in several major areas by the Law Enforcement and Public Safety Committee when the contract was presented to the committee by the commissioners for study and recommendations.

The revised contract is now being considered by the city council. Several sessions with city officials have been held on the recommended changes.

It is reported that some members of the council requested clarifications on some of the financial aspects of the contract.

The original contract was for five years with the first year's cost at $348,000, with each party allowed to give only six months notice on cancellation.

The present police personnel of the city would be absorbed by the sheriff's department on a pay scale based on their years of experience with the Romulus force. All of their rights and seniority, would be maintained by the sheriff's department.

Following an ultimatum by the city council "that if some action on the proposed contract was not forthcoming then the city would begin developing their own police department," the law enforcement committee of the county commissioners submitted the revised contract.

The committee reported higher costs for police services in the revised contract.

County officials reported that "rising costs" have forced the county to put a higher price tag of $198,216 on a unit of patrol service instead of the $175,000 figure proposed in the initial contract.

Council renames city employees

The seven members of Romulus Recreation Commission have all been reappointed by the city council.

The recent reappointments were made on the recommendation of Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael.

Nellie Wehunt, 10250 Romaine.

Other reappointments approved by the council were:

Stonewall Whitworth, 35872 Beverly, to the Board of Appeals for a three-year term.

Sam Quasariano, 15735 Taft; Charles L. Dettloff, 9501 Michael; and Davis Draper, 11019 Elmview, were all given new one-year terms on the Romulus Planning Commission.

ON WAY TO NEW LIBRARY — Leo Dinnan, deputy Wayne County librarian, moving books into Romulus' new library building at Goddard and S. Wayne Rds. The new library is being readied for a June 28 opening. Krause sentenced July 28 on charge of embezzlement

James L. Krause, 32, former Huron Township treasurer, has been found guilty of embezzlement of approximately $6,000 in township funds by a jury before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Edward S. Piggins.

Krause, who faces a possible five-year prison term and or a fine of up to $10,000, will be sentenced by the court on July 28. His $5,000 personal bond was continued pending sentence.

Now a life insurance agent, Krause was found guilty of the charge June 15, after a five-day trial. He was indicted by the Wayne County Citizens

Grand Jury of a charge of embezzlement by a public official.

Krause was specifically accused of embezzling $5,789.29 from the township's general fund in 1970 by shifting money from the general fund to the sewer receiving fund and then using the money from that account for his personal use.

The funds Krause placed in the sewer receiving account came from the State of Michigan and represented quarterly rebate on state income tax collections to the township. This money would be placed in the general operating fund of the township.

During the trial, it was disclosed that Krause apparently replaced cash he removed from the sewer fund with personal checks.

The checks were produced at the trial. None of them had been cashed to cover the shortages.

Mrs. Wilma Wilson, former township clerk, discovered

Mrs. Diane L. Boger was elected to the school district's only other available seat.

Yates seeking recount of narrow vote result

A petition for a recount of the June 14 vote returns of the Romulus Community School District has been filed with the Wayne County Elections Commission, Detroit, by Hulen Yates, 32, of 15555 Colbert St., Romulus.

Yates, who sought the one year term on the school board, was defeated by incumbent Gervazio Canejo, 41, of 16321 Dodge, Romulus, by six votes. Yates received a vote total of 628 to 634 for Canejo.

Canejo whose four-year term expired this year, was seeking re-election to the one year unexpired portion of the four-year term of William M. Oakley, who resigned from the school board to retain his seat on the Romulus City Council.

Yates reported that he had been informed that he had to pay $5 per precinct (the school district has 11 precincts) and $60 per man for a four-man recount team.

Checking with Joe Martina, director of Wayne County Election Commission, Yates said that he was told to get 10 percent of the total vote of the June 14 election following certification by the school district's Board of Canvassers and file his request.

The school election returns were certified last Tuesday night.

Yates reported Monday that he petitioned for signatures and obtained a total of 308. He needed only 228.

The recount is tentatively scheduled for next Monday.

GIVING HIS BLESSING - Rev. Joseph Francis Kernosek, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Romulus, gives his blessing to parishioners and guests at his Silver Jubilee Anniversary Mass June 6. With Rev.

Kernosek are (from left) Rev. Mitchell Bednarski, pastor of St. Ursula Catholic Church, Ypsilanti; and Rev. Alexander Wyrwal, pastor of St. Stephen Catholic Church, New Boston.

Rev. Kernosek's celebration attracts large, happy crowd

A special Silver Jubilee Mass was sung in St. Aloysius Roman Catholic Church, 11280 Ozga Rd., Romulus recently to celebrate the twenty-five years of faithful and dedicated service of its pastor, Rev. Joseph F. Kernosek.

The special theme for the Mass was: "Thou Art a Priest Forever", and the symbol chosen was white doves against sumptuous floral arrangements of white mums and silver tipped carnations.

Large clusters of silver grapes and vines graced the modern filigreed wood backdrop to the altar, to carry out the silver theme of the Mass.

The principal celebrant, Rev. Kernosek, wore a special silver Chasuble, a gift from the parish sisters of the Holy Family.

Twelve fellow priests attended to celebrate the Jubilee Mass. They were the Very Rev. Thaddeus Ozog, rector and president of Sacred Heart Seminary; Rev. Mitchell Bednarski, pastor of St. Ursula's, Ypsilanti; Rev. Eugene Edyk, professor at St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake; Rev. Virgil Heier, Mariannah Mission Society; Rev. John Krause, first pastor of St. Aloysius, retired; Rev. Joseph Kubik, pastor of St. Florian's, Hamtramck; Rev. Andrew Niekarz, pastor of St. Simon and Jude, Westland; Rev. Jury to hear trial over trailer court eviction Eviction proceedings against two families residing in the Royal Village Trailer Park is scheduled to be aired before a jury and 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone, Romulus, June 26.

The families facing eviction are Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, 6069 Pan Am; and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Rushing, neighbors at the trailer park.

The families, members of the Michigan Mobile Homes Association, charged that the eviction court notices served on them May 27 followed an altercation over the ownership of some patio blocks of a former trailer park tenant.

Arthur Coveyou, trailer park manager for the last four years, denied that the patio blocks ownership was the reason for the eviction proceedings but rather an assault upon him during a discussion about the patio blocks being removed to a lot occupied by the Smith family's trailer.

He added that he was following one of the three suggestions submitted to him by one of the owners of the trailer park Dr. Leslie Moss of Southfield.

He reported that when he explained the trouble over the patio blocks to Dr. Moss, he was told to tell the Smiths to pay for the blocks, return them, or be evicted from the park.

Both sides are represented by attorneys.

Following a conference of opposing attorneys, Robert E. Greenstein, association counsel for the families, and Ronald M. Burke, representing the trailer park, with Judge Stone last week, the case was delayed pending a court decision on setting a jury trial.

The Royal Village Trailer Park is located on Van Born Rd., between Inkster and Middlebelt Rds.

Coveyou reported that when tenants vacated the trailer park, shrubbery, trees and patio blocks become the

New bond for city voters?

The resubmission of a new school building bond proposal to the voters of the Romulus Community School District will be among the major items for discussion when the new school board meets in an organizational session July 12.

A shortage of classrooms faces the school district in the fall of 1972, Robert L. McConeghy, school superintendent, reported Monday.

McConeghy announced that the school system hopes to be able to house a student enrollment increase of approximately 500 when school opens this September by using portable classrooms.

The school board has approved the purchase of two portable classrooms to be used next year.

McConeghy added that the school district will "be in a tight situation in 1972. The school district will then be in need of 10 additional classrooms in the junior high school level."

Next year's student enrollment is increased to 6,400 from the present 5,900.

And in 1976, the student enrollment is expected to be approximately 8,500, school officials reported.

Two school building bond issues were defeated by the voters on June 14.

A bond proposal in the amount of $11.5 million was rejected by a vote of nearly two to one.

The proposal was meant to finance the construction, furnishing and equipping of new elementary school buildings, a new junior high school building and additions to existing school buildings.

The second bond proposal in the amount of $1,125,000 was for the construction of a community swimming pool at Romulus Senior High School. This was defeated by a vote of four to one.

The building additions were scheduled at Beverly, Harrison, Cory and Mt. Pleasant Elementary Schools. The two portable classrooms will be used at Romulus Junior High School next fall.

Under state law, the school district cannot resubmit to the district's voters a bond issue of the same amount within a six-month period.

Sen. Faust is named to study committee

State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) has been named vice-chairman of a special Senate committee to study the training of Michigan teachers.

"It is the intent of this committee to take a close look at the methods employed by education departments in Michigan's colleges and universities in training new teachers," according to Faust.

Composed of five members of the Senate Education Committee plus two additional senators, the committee will utilize a variety of sources for compiling its report. Among those whom the committee will consult are instructors and administrators of education departments in the state's higher education institutions, graduates of teacher training programs presently teaching in schools throughout the state and students enrolled in education curriculums.

In commenting on why a study is being planned, Faust stated, "In recent years, traditional modes of teaching have been subject to criticism and challenge from many segments of the public—parents, educators, business, and students themselves. Reform and innovation are needed in our college departments of education as well as in the classroom. We hope to discover how responsive education departments have been to the changing needs of Michigan's educational system."

The committee will have the legislative power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and examine any books and records in matters which are before the committee. It is expected that the committee will begin its study in the fall.

Testimonial party to honor Sen. Faust

A testimonial party honoring Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) will be held on June 25, it was announced today by a committee of eight mayors in the 13th Senatorial District.

Patrick J. Norton, mayor of Wayne and spokesman for the group, said that the party was to honor Sen. Faust for the "fine job he is doing in Lansing representing the people of Michigan."

"Bill Faust," said Norton, "is one of the most energetic senators to represent our area. His tireless dedication to the people of this state and his devotion to the 13th District is truly commendable. A testimonial party in his honor is one way of showing our appreciation."

County appoints committee

Fearful of a potential budget deficit estimated at $10 to $12 million, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has appointed a special subcommittee to study county finances.

Commissioner Richard E. Manning, Redford, D-Dist. 19, is chairman of the new nine-member subcommittee of the Ways and Means Committee. The group will seek to steer the Board through austerity budget appropriations which have been complicated by inflation and expensive labor contracts.

Besides Manning, other members of the subcommittee are:

John J. McCann, Livonia, D-Dist. 26; Michael J. Novak, Detroit, D-Dist. 1; Catherine Shavers, Detroit, D-Dist. 15; Eugene A. Sikora, Detroit, D-Dist. 7; Paul Silver, Detroit, D-Dist. 11; Ervin A. Steiner, Jr., Grosse Pointe, R-Dist. 3; Frederick Yates, Detroit, D-Dist. 9; and Albert J. Zak, Hamtramck, D-Dist. 8.

Members were appointed by Board Chairman, Robert E. FitzPatrick, who is an ex-officio member of the subcommittee.

Tentative agreement reached with union

The language of a proposed employment contract between the City of Romulus and Local 214 of the Teamsters State, County & Municipal Workers has been tentatively agreed upon, Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael disclosed Monday.

Jury slated on trailer eviction

(Continued from Page 1) property of the park according to rules and regulations that tenants are informed of when they take up residence.

He reported that on Saturday, April 10, he noticed that the patio blocks had been removed from a lot formerly occupied by Kenneth B. Hughes.

He stated that he made a check of the park and found the blocks over at the Smith's trailer. He also reported that he received information that two young boys had carted the blocks away to the Rushing family's trailer.

Coveyou said that he contacted Rushing and was told that the blocks were at the Smith trailer.

He (Coveyou) denied that he accused Smith of stealing the blocks as the Smiths contended. He stated that he told Rushing that he was as implicated as the boys who took the blocks if he kept them and requested that they be returned.

On Sunday, April 11,

Coveyou reported that Smith came to his place and accused him of calling him a thief. "He tore off his glasses and wanted to fight. I didn't want to because of a reported heart condition that Smith had," Coveyou said.

"On Monday April 12, I went to the Smith's trailer and told him what the park owner had said. 'I got out of the truck to see the blocks when Smith grabbed me. I fought loose. He hit me several times.' The elder Rushing's stepson John Kraut, then came over. He allegedly started kicking and hitting Coveyou while he was fighting Smith. Coveyou then got into the truck and drove away he said.

He also disclosed that he has received threatening phone calls.

According to a letter in possession of the Smith family the former owner of the patio blocks gave the Smith family permission to remove the patio blocks to their own park lot.

Kernosek's fete attracts crowd

Following the Mass, a Silver Jubilee Banquet was held in the parish hall.

The hall was decorated for the occasion with blue tablecloths set with white lace placemats. The floral center pieces that graced each table were silver chandeliers filled with silver grapes and wheat, with white doves on either side of a large medallion designating the 25th anniversary.

The main table was set against a backdrop of silver drapes, with large medallions with the numerals 25. The main table had as its centerpiece a large white bible inscribed with Rev. Kernosek's name and year of ordination. All decorations were under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Bodis.

On the tables were silver candles decorated with white and silver net, and adorned with silver leaves.

The menu included chicken and dressing, stuffed cabbage, polish sausage and sauerkraut, meatballs and gravy, vegetables, tossed salad, relish plate, cream pies, crusiciki, coffee, tea, or milk.

The Master of Ceremonies for the occasion was Fr. Joseph Kubik, who introduced the Priest Chairman Rev. Andrew Nieckarz, and the Lay Chairman Michael Molenda, and other distinguished guests and speakers.

The special highlights of the evening were the presentations of letters from President Nixon and Gov. Milliken which were also printed in white and silver booklet program.

The Silver Jubilee Committee presented Father Kernosek with his graduation ring from the University of Detroit. When Father graduated in 1942 he didn't have the funds to purchase his class ring. Through special arrangements with the University the Jubilee Committee were able to obtain it.

Also the Committee was able to present the pastor with a check in the amount of $2,400 as a gift from all who helped make the Jubilee the huge success that it was.

Among those present to present special proclamations to Father Kernosek for his outstanding achievements were State Representative Edward E. Mahalak, who presented Father Kernosek with a framed declaration; Douglas Baum, president of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce and the President of the Parish Council who also presented special proclamation.

Each church society gave their pastor a special gift, and then Miss Audrey Szyndlar, representing the school children of St. Aloysius School, gave a short speech and presented the children's gift along with twenty-five red roses.

After the presentations the musicians for the dance, Walt Cieslik and his Musical Ambassadors of WBBB FM radio livened up the night with the "Beer Barrel Polka" and other arrangements, while refreshments were served.

Guests came from many other states, among them California, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Ohio, Illinois and New York. The church and banquet hall were filled to capacity. The 350 Banquet tickets were sold out six weeks in advance.

Progressive Club gives $400 to MD campaign

Q. Is there a customary amount given a clergyman as an honorarium for his service in a funeral? — Mrs. D. Darby

A. The amount given is strictly the families decision. It is based on their financial circumstances and their appreciation of the clergyman's interest; his effort and personal sacrifice in being present to help. This donation need not be made at the funeral service, however it should be sent soon afterward with a note of appreciation. Considering the best interest of the people, we are more than glad to discuss individual services with a family at their request.

Dangerous precedent looms with Lockheed

The administration officially supports a federal guarantee of $250 million in loans to troubled Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and so, in a way, does Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard.

Mr. Packard's support, however, is something that Lockheed probably would have preferred to get along without.

Mr. Packard did tell a Senate committee that without the loan guarantee he didn't think Lockheed could avoid bankruptcy. He also said that if Lockheed foundered, many people would lose jobs and the defense industry and the airlines would lose a good deal of money.

He added that defense programs would be more troublesome, although he lightened the impact of that comment considerably by saying that it would not be an "absolute disaster."

Obviously the fate of any large business enterprise is important to the economy, and Lockheed's fate is probably more important than many.

But that leaves unanswered the question of what the federal government should do when a company does become shaky.

In an economy supposedly based on private enterprise, it's more than a little discouraging to think of the government rushing here and there to shore up first this company and then that one, even if the rescue operation temporarily saves jobs and money for those involved. The line between private and public enterprise would quickly become blurred and then perhaps disappear.

Even aside from principle there is the question of practicality. In the role of company doctor the federal government hardly is equipped with credentials or record attesting to a high degree of business expertise.

If Congress looks at the Lockheed loan guarantee as a specific, single case, Mr. Packard told the committee, "Then there's some justification for it. But it is very important that we don't establish it as a long-term precedent."

Whether anyone intends it that way or not, the rescue of a large private company will set a precedent. It's a prospect that a great many people besides Mr. Packard find disturbing.

The Wall Street Journal

In years gone by...

A look through The Daily Eagle files at news of Western Wayne County one, 15 and 25 years ago:

25 YEARS AGO

June 23, 1946 — Bill Bidwell, ace hurler for the Northside Merchants, added 20 more strikeouts to his long line of victims, and was credited with the victory which is now stretched to 14 straight. The 10-1 win was over Hackar's Coal of Detroit on the Sopol Evergreen diamond.

Bidwell was master of the situation allowing only two safeties and the lone run.

In the fourth inning, the locals pulled the age-old "hidden ball" trick to make the final out of the frame. Catcher Denny Piscopink, who was injured last week, caught the entire game while Milton Glass did all his running for him. Piscopink got on base three times and each time Glass scored for him. Bill Taylor led the batting attack with two doubles and a single out of five tries at the plate.

Despite expert hurling by Cliff Wise, Garden City dropped a hard-fought game to Northville by a 1-0 score.

Northville gained its lone run when a hot liner to shortstop Tatro went through his legs and into left field, with a runner on second scoring.

It was a heartbreaker for new pitcher Wise, who is from the Michigan University nine. Wise, a regular on the college team was an undefeated hurler. The sluggers from Northville were allowed but six scattered hits while committing two errors. Carlson hurled the shutout for the leaders and gave the Garden City boys four more scattered hits.

Two winners of a recent Junior Chamber of Commerce kite contest received their prizes — rides in a real "kite" through the courtesy of Stinson division of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. DeMarius Ann Ostrander and Lloyd Hudson received a trip over Wayne, Plymouth and Willow Run in the new Stinson Voyager 150, piloted by George May and Jerry Rutzel.

15 YEARS AGO

June 23, 1956 — Eight members of the French club of Wayne Memorial High School left for an eight-day trip through Quebec, Canada.

Leading the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Blank and James Hickey. Students going are Jacqueline Blank, Patricia Murdick, Judy Lunt, Jean Serdott, Robert Riggs, Terry Hebron, Patricia Solomon and Judy Lundgren.

The group will visit Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Toronto and, if there's time, Niagara Falls.

Carlton K. Wilson son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Latarski of 34450 Glen St. is scheduled to graduate from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The nine weeks of "Boot Camp" included drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, sea survival, boat handling and the use of small arms. Following two weeks leave, graduates will be assigned to shipboard duties of a service school depending on the qualification each has demonstrated.

Lieutenants Leslie Vankoughnet and Jack O'Callagan of the Garden City Volunteer Fire Department attended the University of Michigan's Annual Fire College at Rackham Hall.

It was the first year for Van Houghnet and the eighth for O'Callagan. The former took the first year course which consists of Ladder evolutions, Hose Layouts, Use of Masks and ropes, Salvage and Overhaul and forcible entry.

ONE YEAR AGO

June 23, 1970 — As concern over environmental pollution reaches a new high, more and more suggestions are available for people who wish to do something positive about the environmental crises.

A flyer is available at Wayne city hall detailing what one man can do to fight pollution. Included in the list of suggestions to help clean up our environment is the recommendation to use returnable bottles instead of throwaways or cans. The flyer suggests the consumer insist that supermarkets handle returnable pop, milk, and beer containers.

All alleys slated for vacation under the city plan are not yet closed, after residents argued against the move because of inconveniences.

Alley number 2 at Middlebelt near the London Townhouse and Alley number 8 were tabled pending further investigation.

Council also approved the vacation of alley 15, but after residents interrupted the meeting, claiming council president Charles McIlhargey didn't see his raised hand, the body heard his claim and voted to rescind the earlier motion and table the decision.

There's softball competition in the near future for gals in Garden City.

The Parks and Recreation Department is organizing teams for girls between the ages of 10 and 16 who are invited to sign up for the league.

Registration is scheduled and players may sign up at the following playgrounds: Harrison, Henry Ruff, Maplewood, Farmington, Marquette, Memorial and Lathers.

Twenty-seven candidates have filed for district judge, county commissioner, state representative and state senator in districts which serve the city of Inkster.

Municipal Judge John H. McCartney, of 26860 N. River Park Dr., Inkster, is the only candidate to file for District Judge.

McCartney is unopposed and his name will not appear on the August primary ballot. If he is elected in November, McCartney will preside over the new 22nd District Court, previously the Inkster Municipal Court, which will begin operation January 1, 1971.

Speaking of schools

Social studies philosophy given

By ERMIL JONES Chairman of Social Studies Department Van Buren Public Schools

The succeeding statements from the Philosophy Committee of the Social Studies Department of Belleville High School were formulated for the purpose of making explicit the reasons and rationale concerning the new curriculum of this department.

A Social Studies Curriculum must provide our future citizens with the background and understanding necessary to face challenging problems on the local, state, national, and world level, offering a variety of courses to meet student interests.

The instruction of students in social studies must be guided by the intent to affect in them an awareness of their being relative to others in their society and to the social institutions of their culture.

However, this awareness is only a beginning; students must also learn to function successfully as members of this society. This can best be accomplished in the social studies by offering as wide a variety of study disciplines, subject to continuous re-evaluation, as students will require to adequately contend with the wide variety of problems in their world.

These disciplines have been grouped into four major study "areas": World, American, Geographical and Governmental.

The concept of "heritage", taught in proper perspective, is imperative to the continuation of desirable cultural practices and development of new social standards.

To know what should be retained as desirable and what to dispense with as detrimental to the society, it is often necessary to look to the past. There can be found the roots of our present problems. An awareness of the past will contribute to the understanding and solution of these problems.

The courses offered in World and American Studies will aid students in their pursuit of these goals.

A background in geographic knowledge is also necessary, both relative to "locations" and to the various influences of environment. As members of a physical and social world, students must recognize man's efforts to make these as compatible as possible with his own existence, with emphasis on the complex interaction of man's two "worlds."

The ultimate purpose is to enable students to become productive members of their group. To contribute, however, requires that the individual be prepared for the following:

1) realization of self worth through self-accomplishment, 2) ability to determine which goals, both individual and communal, as those to be sought after, and 3) the ability to adapt to existing patterns and institutions, and to propose and formulate new ones if the need is there.

Objectives of the department are:

1. To meet the needs and special interest of the students by offering a variety of courses.

2. To make the students aware how to function successfully as a member of society.

3. To make students aware of their past "heritage" so that they might better understand the problems of today.

4. To aid students to develop an awareness of their role as future citizens in making positive contributions to society.

5. To make students aware of their social environment through an understanding of their physical environment and vice versa.

6. To teach students the skills necessary in developing critical thinking and evaluating of information.

7. To make the students aware of the contributions of the minorities to the American way of life.

Reader writes about school millage defeat

To the editor:

It must be nice to be able to shut off one's mind; to ignore today's problems and pretend they don't exist; to ignore all others and escape to the safety of one's own private little impregnable world where a few dollars mean just that much more security.

I applaud those who so religiously used their prerogative of enfranchisement to defeat the Van Buren school millage proposal. They have done their duty. Each one of these conscientious voters have fulfilled their obligations to themselves.

It is certainly understandable and I commend you all for your most judicious decision. And I'm sure I speak for all of the children in this school system who must also acknowledge the wisdom of this, your final judgement.

Robert L. Ferret

Reader sickened by fellow students' litter

To the editor:

I'm a ninth grader at South Junior High School and I'm writing to tell the people of Belleville that I'm ashamed of all the litter my fellow students throw.

It's not the teachers' fault for not teaching them about ecology or pollution. I learned a lot this year to respect your town by not littering.

Those students that didn't want their paper why didn't they throw them in the trash barrel.

Today when I walked by Victory Park, I almost vomited from all the littering my fellow students did.

So friends I'm sorry for what some disrespectful students did to our city.

I think they should be ashamed themselves.

Ability key to taxing

The state of Michigan desperately needs money. To the citizens of the state of Michigan, this means taxes.

The governor is not too clear on what he proposes be done about taxes. He talked about increases in the state income tax, he talked about education reform tax program, he talked about a value added tax on business and he talked about relief on the property tax.

I believe that any tax program must be based on the ability to pay. There are a number of us in Lansing that have and will insist that any tax program must offer immediate and substantial relief to homeowners and tenants. We must stop placing a penalty on home ownership.

The retired citizen's security is threatened because of the hardships to pay his taxes on the home they bought over the years and where they hope to live out their lives.

There is the question of the current property tax on corporations and other businesses. One possibility is substituting an increase in individual income tax in exchange for homeowners property tax relief.

The governor has been specific in increasing the state income tax by 1.3 percent effective Jan. 1, 1972. The governor said (and I quote), "I have said all along the 1.3 percent rate and other proposals get to the heart of the problems and the solutions we need. If there are better ideas, and I don't think there are any at the moment, I would be willing to listen." Any increases must be based on a constitutional guarantee for property tax relief for homeowners and tenants. The legislature must provide for a statewide referendum.

A vote by the people to end Michigan's regressive flat-rate income tax and to replace it with a progressive income tax based on ability to pay. The referendum on the income tax established in the constitution a guarantee of property tax relief.

Because of the governor's history of providing tax relief to business and industry, while increasing the taxes of individuals. We cannot allow another program that has amounted to a $278 million dollar increase on individuals and a $52 million dollar deduction for business and industry. This was done in 1970!

The taxpayers here in Michigan are revolting and demand the right to a voice in how they are to be taxed and how much. The governor has an obligation to do more than propose in that he should be specific in spelling out a clear analysis of its impact.

I think that we could ask the governor's support of a property tax relief referendum and a statewide referendum on a progressive income tax (BASED on ability to pay) instead of the flat increase.

What do you think? I would like to hear your views.

MOBILE UNIT RETIRES—National Bank of Detroit's Mobile Money Museum, which has told the story of the history of money, ended its third and final year of operation this week. Experience NBD received with the mobile unit will be used in three new educational programs the bank will sponsor this fall. Pictured with the unit are NBD tour guides (left to right) Janet Harvey of Detroit, Bernie Gremel (sitting) of Grosse Pointe, and Darlene Jones of Detroit.

Mobile Money Museum experiment completed

National Bank of Detroit has announced the completion of a three-year experimental program in education called the Mobile Money Museum. Bank officials said the experimental program has helped two new economic education programs which NBD will begin to implement this fall.

The Mobile Money Museum ended three years to the day after it began operating in the Detroit area. A quarter-million people, including 20,000 Belleville residents, have toured the Mobile Money Museum since 1968.

The unit consisted of 12 elaborate displays of coins and artifacts that vividly covered man's 25 centuries of experience with money.

Dr. Charles J. Wolfe, acting superintendent of Detroit Public Schools, said: "The Mobile Money Museum has been a most valuable experience for thousands of our Detroit Public School children. The whole history of our mediums of exchange is an intrinsic part of our heritage, and I am so grateful the Detroit youngsters have had this opportunity to view such an interesting collection of coins and currency."

"As a boy I became interested in collecting coins. I remember well how I searched and searched for many I viewed recently in the Mobile Money Museum collection."

"The unit has performed its job well," said Miss Susan Cherry, Money Museum manager. "Our paramount consideration was the educational needs and interests of the students. Local educators told us what they wanted to see in a new program, and this was what we gave the school system."

Bank officials worked closely with the Institute for Economic Education and the school system's Department of Social Studies throughout the program to determine what help the schools needed.

"As a result of our get-togethers," Miss Cherry said, "we produced study guides, designed special displays and made branch manager visits and color films a part of the program."

Specifically, NBD has planned two new programs aimed at helping the economic education efforts of Detroit-area teachers.

The first program involves the production of a number of highly-portable money exhibits, each with its own educational theme such as the era of barter, coins of Greece and Rome, the Middle Ages, inflation, the supremacy of the dollar, and U. S. Currency of the 1870's. These exhibits will be available to community groups by contacting the Money Museum.

The second program deals with the development of a personalized group tour program at NBD's permanent money museum at its main office, 611 Woodward.

All three are with The American Legion, Department of Michigan, 422 Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit.

The committee organizing the Meet is composed of Chairman George Giblin, park superintendent of Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, who is assisted by Charles A. Damm, park superintendent of Kensington Metropolitan Park; Mrs. Caddie Gerrie, activity director, department of Recreation in Highland

Self-insurance plan could save money

Senator William Faust, D-Westland, says Michigan school districts could save millions of dollars if the legislature approves his proposal for a state-wide school self-insurance program for fire and extended coverage.

"Under a bill I introduced in the Senate today, school districts would save a total of about $1 million annually in the first three years of the program," said Faust.

"The proposed plan calls for investment of these initial payments to the fund so that ultimately, the program will pay for itself and require only minimal contributions from the schools."

Noting that the state's school districts paid a total of more than $3 million on properly insurance premiums during the fiscal year ending June, 1970, Faust said schools "obviously have much to gain by pooling funds in a self-insurance program."

Legislation introduced by Faust provides for the creation of a public school fire insurance fund administered by a seven-member board appointed by the Governor.

According to Faust's proposal, each school district in the state would contribute one dollar a year to the fund for each student, until the total amount of money accumulated in the fund equaled three dollars for each public school student in Michigan, now estimated at some 2.2 million.

Each district's contribution to the fund would automatically be deducted from its state aid payments, or if the district is not receiving state aid, would be payable by Feb. 1.

Member school districts would be reimbursed by the fund for losses of school building facilities destroyed or damaged by fire, lightning, vandalism, hazards covered under extended coverage, windstorm, riot, hail, tornado, falling aircraft, vehicles, earthquake, cyclone or falling missiles.

Faust said that an added feature of the fund is that school districts would be reimbursed for losses of more than $1,000.

"In many school districts, the deductible loss is far higher," he said. "This means that many school districts are able to collect for only major losses."

"Our schools simply cannot afford to continue to pay for both losses exempt under certain deductible policies and rising premiums for private insurance rarely collected."

The proposed bill would also enable an administrator of the fund to purchase insurance to cover hazards in excess of the reserve available in the fund for payment of losses.

School districts would be reimbursed for a building totally destroyed based on the average foot cost for school buildings in the area. School districts would be reimbursed for partial losses of buildings or its contents based on replacement costs.

'What's the Matter With Helen' is a tasty tidbit of film horror

United Artists presents a Filmways-Raymax Production. What's the Matter with Helen? directed by Curtis Harrington, produced by George Edwards, screenplay by Henry Farrell, executive producer Edward S. Feldman. DeLuxe Color. Rated GP. 101 minutes. At the Quo Vadis with the following cast: Debbie Reynolds, Shelly Winters, Dennis Weaver, Agnes Moorehead, Michael Mac Liammoir.

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

"What's the Matter with Helen?" is a tasty tidbit in the tradition of "Baby Jane" and "Sweet Charlotte" and a dozen other histrionic horror pictures which prove that old stars never die, they just scream away.

It may be that for such luminaries as Bette Davis and Joan Crawford these films represent a comedown, albeit a lucrative one. But for Debbie Reynolds, who has been wallowing in a field of marshmallow goo for 15 years, "Helen" represents a welcome chance to let loose.

Debbie and Shelly Winters, who is an old hand at this sort of stuff, are the mothers of two teenage thrill-killers of the sort which were once so popular in the newspapers, like Leopold-Leob or Hall-Mills. To escape the notoriety, the pair head for Hollywood where Adelle Bruckner (Miss Reynolds) opens a dance studio for toddlers whose mothers envision another Shirley Temple. All seems well, especially when a romance blossoms with Dennis Weaver, the flamboyant father of one of her pupils.

Helen Hill (Miss Winters) on the other hand, has problems. To begin with, there was a fanatic back in New York who thought the boys, who had escaped execution, got off too lightly. Since they are out of reach he thinks the next best thing would be to get the mothers and some ominous phone calls follow. Now Helen becomes increasingly fearful that he has followed them out to Hollywood and she begins to spot a stranger behind every bush.

The top suspect is Hamilton Starr, a ham actor with a rolling voice, broadly played by Michael Mac Liammoir, who persuades Adelle to let him give voice and acting lessons at the studio. Or could be the mysterious stranger who shows up one night only to be pushed down a flight of stairs in panic by Helen? Adelle, fearing notoriety, helps her get rid of the body. Growing increasing more disturbed, Helen seeks relief with Agnes Moorehead, a spurious, money-grubbing radio evangelist.

Director Curtis Harrington effectively recreates the flavor of the move-worshipping thirties, including a couple of scenes which effectively comment on some of the kiddie films of the period. But he is right on course for the climax which includes an ingenious wrinkle as surprising and ironic as it is gory.

Debbie Reynolds, in quite a different performance for her, and Shelly Winters both let loose in welcome summer fare.

Dance soloist at Art Institute

Daniel Nagrin, dance soloist, will appear at The Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium on Saturday, under the co-sponsorship of the University Center for Adult Education (WSU-U of M) and the Theatre Arts Department of The Detroit Institute of Arts.

Critics and audience alike have found it a challenge to classify or even describe the work of Daniel Nagrin. All agree he is a leader in the modern dance field, a virtuoso technician, a brilliant performer and the creator of a completely individual style.

history of the thirty year war between Athens and Sparta.

The score has original music by Eric Salzman and Archie Schepp and a tape collage assembled by Salzman and Nagrin. The preparation of this work was supported by a grant from the New York State Council of the Arts and the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities.

"The Peloponnesian War" was created while Nagrin was Artist-in-Residence at The State University College at Brockport, New York.

Nagrin will present his one-man, full-evening show, "The Peloponnesian War," a dance theatre collage created and performed to the text of Thucydides' celebrated Critical and public reaction to "The Peloponnesian War" reflect its sharp impact; in addition to forty performances to packed houses in New York City, Nagrin has performed the work extensively through the country.

The performance is scheduled for 8 p.m.; ticket prices are $3.50 general admission and $2 for students. Tickets may be obtained from The Detroit Institute of Arts Box Office. For information, call 832-2730.

'When Eight Bells Toll' great mystery-adventure

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Movie Critic

When you start comparing adventurers, you will find people who think LeCarre's characters too jaded, James Bond too camp, and Deighton's Harry Palmer too droll. Somehow, nobody ever has any complaints about Alistair MacLean's protagonists, who seldom hang around for more than one book. MacLean's heroes are created to advance a story and nothing more since MacLean knows how to stick to business. He's doing so again in "When Eight Bells Toll," a rousing adventure set off the coast of Scotland. Anthony Hopkins is cast as one of those ugly-handsome Burton types, incapable of obeying orders to the discomfort of those mannered and well-padded old-boy clubmen types in Whitehall, in this case Robert Morley, who presumes that a member of his own club certainly couldn't be a villain, especially if he's on the wine committee.

Said clubman is Jack Hawkins, as the millionaire Skouras, chief suspect in a series of mysterious gold robberies off bullion ships. One is traced to a remote Scottish coast where a series of disasters and disappearances seems to threaten anyone unlucky enough to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. It would seem that Calvert (Hopkins) has hit paydirt when he is beaten up, his helicopter shot down and his partner, the bookish Colin Redgrave murdered.

Convinced that Calvert is about to make a botch of it—

"That's what comes of not going to the proper school you know"—Arthur (Morley) arrives on the scene in time to serve as foil to Calvert's heroics. Calvert of course does crack the nut—what happens to the ships after they're captured—finds out why the townfolk are so terrorized, unmasks a beautiful spy in his midst, disposes of several interlopers, all of this in time to devise a solution, neatly packaged by the final reel. "Where Eight Bells Toll" is an economical picture handily assembled by Etienne Perier in the classic MacLean mold and a welcome change from problem pictures.

LOW COST VEHICLE LOANS SINCE 1871

The one-horse carriage doesn't look like much today. But, in 1871, it was considered a very sporty model. In a hundred years of helping downriver residents finance transportation, we've seen vehicles change dramatically. But, people haven't changed that much. Your great-grandparents came to Wyandotte Savings Bank for dependable service ... and low vehicle loan rates. We still offer both.

Our readers write

Carlson has answers to Rochowiak letter

To the editor:

Our Constitution requires that I respect the right of any citizen to voice an opinion. However, when a person publicly proclaims that the day following Thursday is Monday, I feel compelled to suggest that a review of the facts involved indicate that the day after Thursday might just happen to be Friday—I would be wrong, though, what the heck, nobody's perfect.

In any event, I would like to present the following comments with respect to the letter of Mrs. Joyce Rochowiak of 6-16-71: I. "He took a stand against it" - the 5 mill increase of 1968.

Facts - I did not, in any way, ever state that the school system did not require additional operational millage. What I did say was that as a result of a review of the proposed budget for 68-69 (which required the 5 added mills), I felt that only 3.75 mills were required.

To operate at this level would of course necessitate some austere belt tightening. Although I didn't agree with the 5 mill level at the time I voted for the millage. Why? Because no intelligent person would cut his nose off to spite his face, when the education of our children is involved.

At the time that I made my analysis, no one expected the Supreme Court to rule that all schools furnish books and supplies to students. Based on the district evaluation which I used in my analysis, this amounts to an added ¾ mill.

I doubt that anyone, in 1968, anticipated the magnitude of the inflationary spiral which we were about to enter. As a result, my analysis understated the cost of teacher wage increases.

Again, on the then current tax base this amounts to an average of 7 ½ mills over the period. So, let's add up the score. My analysis, if done today would show 3 ¾ mills plus ¾ mills, plus 7 ½ mills which equals 5 ¾ mills. These costs have been absorbed without additional millage.

However, our tax base has expanded, so to equate for this, my analysis would actually read out today as a requirement of 4 ¾ mills. Consequently, the school board has in fact accomplished 80 percent of the program outlined in my original analysis.

I don't know about you sports fans, but I'd say that's a pretty good indication that our school board and superintendent are trying to do a good job of running our schools.

II. Mobile Home Parks - I don't think that anyone would argue the fact that mobile home owners pay a disproportionately low level of school taxes as compared to the school taxes paid by homeowners. This is a very real problem. Right? You bet it is! However, the thing that I would like to point out to you, Joyce, is that if you are driving down the highway and run out of gas, you don't fix the problem by pushing your car over a cliff.

We can boil the school board in oil if this type of thing turns you on, but it won't change our state laws with regards to taxes paid by Mobile Home Owners. If you really feel strongly about the mobile home tax situation why don't you apply some "clout" to our state legislators, they are the only ones that can fix the problem.

III. Quality Education -- You point out that in 1963, "Belleville educational programs were above average". You then state that "since then the schools obtained a bond issue and a millage issue and our school system is rated below average".

It follows then that if I take your logic to its' conclusion we see that if we take all funds away from the school system our rating will be outstanding. If you can sell anybody on this concept I want to sell them some steam locomotive stock when you finish.

Back to reality. The state testing system upon which your reference of "below average" is made has been in existence only two years, so I fail to see how you correlate 1963 with these new tests.

Let's assume for a minute that our schools educational level is below average, will reducing their funds in any way improve the quality level? Watch out, there goes your car off the cliff again.

IV. "I felt like Mr. Carlson does, But----" But what? But then per your letter you sat down and suddenly remembered that "my children aren't in school yet". Wow--I can only conclude that when your children do enter school the "But" will go away and you will feel like I do without any reservations.

I am glad that under certain conditions you are willing to see the light. I only hope we still have a school system left for them to enter because I sincerely want to have good schools for your children just as badly as I want good schools for mine.

In closing, I want to point out that my intent is not to put anyone up, down, or sideways. Rather, when being misquoted by someone who has not even shown me the common courtesy of requesting an explanation of my 3 year old tax study before "putting me down" or suggesting that I don't care about tax levels, is just too much and requires a reply.

D.W. Carlson

Mr. Employer: You don't have to compare Workmen's Compensation policies!

Why? Because all compensation coverage, including basic rates, is set by law. But there are still three ways to reduce your costs through the Citizens Plan. They are unique in offering a safe-worker program, an accident-reduction program, plus a dividend (up to 30%) and premium savings plan. Get complete details from your Citizens Man—you'll find there's no comparison.

President, Robert Orbin, 46040 Reed Rd.; Vice President, Norma Alliston, 2038 George Ave.; Secretary, Susan Tansey, 2038 George Ave.; Treasurer, Henry Raymond, 21875 Bohn Rd.

"Last year's officers are to be commended for a lot of hard work, especially Mrs.

Judy Smith and Mrs. Norma Alliston, president and vice president respectively," stated Thomas McLenon, principal.

"These parents have been wonderful. For such a young organization, they have done very well. We expect better things to come. As can be seen from the election results, fathers are taking a more active role and this, in my estimation, is a big lift and encouraging to everyone at Sumpter School," he added.

Salvation Army camp celebrating anniversary

The Salvation Army is now celebrating the 50th Anniversary of its Echo Grove Camp. This summer camp, located in the rolling hills of Leonard, Michigan, serves many people from this area, young and old.

It is estimated that more than one hundred thousand people—the underprivileged, handicapped, teenagers, senior citizens, and children—have enjoyed The Salvation Army's Camping Program since Echo Grove first opened in 1921.

Regular camp activities include boating, swimming and nature walks. Eligible youngsters can attend the Army's Music Camps, receiving expert instruction in voice, brass instruments and leadership.

The Salvation Army provides an "unforgettable" week in the country for less fortunate people who ordinarily wouldn't get out of the city because they just can't afford a vacation.

Tryouts scheduled

Adult try-outs for "Paddle Your Own Canoe" will be held Tuesday, July 6, at the Romulus Senior High School auditorium at 6:30 p.m., announced David Ferdon, director.

All those interested in a part in the three act comedy are invited to attend. There will be openings for people in all areas of play production: costuming, acting, lighting, sound effects, make-up, staging, publicity and directing.

The production which is sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Commission, will be staged publicly on Aug. 6 and 7.

Government equipment slated for public sale

Nick Smith, chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Wayne, has announced another public sale of Government-owned grain bins and equipment.

On Friday of this week, starting at 12:30 p.m., 32 round bins with 3,250-bushel capacity each and two flat storage structures with 40,110-bushel capacity each will be offered for sale by public auction, Smith stated.

Also included at this sale will be a steel utility building and several miscellaneous items such as aeration equipment, electrical equipment, ladder, lawn mower, etc., he said.

The sale will be held at the Swartz Creek binsite, Genesee County, located on the north side of the railroad, ½ mile southwest of Swartz Creek, Michigan, and details of the sale may be obtained by contacting the Genesee County ASCS Office, 3505 W. Coldwater Rd., Mt. Morris, Michigan 48458, phone number 313-787-5111, or by contacting the nearest county ASCS office, Smith advised.

Each purchaser of a bin will be required to certify that the bin will be used in connection with the storage or handling of agricultural commodities or, if purchased by a nonprofit agency or organization, an authorized official must certify the bin will be used for the purpose of such agency or organization, Smith stated.

Farmers may finance the purchase of these bins through the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program provided they meet eligibility requirements; however, the prospective purchaser must bring a memorandum from his home county ASCS office stating his eligibility, Smith advised.

Additional auction sales of Government-owned grain bins will be announced in the near future, he said.

Harrison PTA has 'fond farewell'

Right in the middle of fixing more than 500 hot dogs, Mrs. Rohde had her surprise. The newly elected PTA executive board, headed by Mrs. Jean Braithwaite, presented Mrs. Rohde with a corsage and silver candy dish in appreciation for her hard work at Harrison School.

Mrs. Rohde gives credit to her fellow officers for Harrison PTA's busy year.

Bouncing back from its first setback of the campaign, Morgan Manor strung two victories together last week to nudge its way into the front of the field of 11 teams in the Romulus Adult Softball League as the second round of competition began.

Morgan's dropped its first to defending champ, Anchor Block, but was able to gather its poise to trim Progressive 5-2 before zapping Waller's Bar, 16-4 for its eighth triumph in nine starts.

Morgan's and Progressive played flawless defensive ball. The duel was highlighted with a tape measure home run over the fence by Ron Jones at Harrison with teammate Kusibab aboard.

The round tripper moved the winners from a 3-2 edge to its final 5-2 count.

Mike Sprau's two-run homer provided Progressive with its only scores.

Jones was again the leading hitter Tuesday, belting four for four including a homer in Morgan's lopsided 22-hit assault against Waller's Bar.

Anchor Block remained close on the leader's heels in downing Baum Funeral Home 7-2 and Guardian Coating 23-0. Anchor pounded out 16-hits in the Baum game which was led by the Rakotz brothers. Rich came away with a perfect four for four while Junior had four for five and Dave hammered three hits in four tries. Teammates Les Pennington smacked four hits in five times.

Baum's received a perfect day from Roy Hartford who collected three hits in three appearances while Dave Hofmann connected for two safeties in two times at the plate.

Spearman's Fine Foods stayed in the title race, getting by the Romulus Refugees 17 to 1. Led by Al Ott's pair of home runs and Wally Goeckels circuit clout on Thursday, they followed up by besting Cue Corners 9 to 6 on Tuesday. Romulus Refugee's surprised Alden Electric 9 to 2 as Szyldar and Scheffer had a perfect day at the plate for the Refugees with five hits in five trips. Larry Umfleet was the winning pitcher.

Theodore Limousine defeated Five Points Bar 23 to 0. Mel Carlington allowed four hits in registering the shutout. Larry Cole slammed two home runs, one with the bases jammed in a five for five performance. Garry Karwich was also perfect at five for five. Thursday, Theodore took nine innings to squeeze by Cue Corners 7 to 5.

Romulus Progressive made its presence felt after losing to Morgan Thursday by upsetting Baum Funeral Home 10 to 4. Harmon Schonfeld, with a three run homer, and Bill Reiber with a two run round tripper, led the way in Progressive's 18-hit assault.

Jim Halcomb for the second game in a row was perfect at the plate with a walk and three singles. Bob Maronen held Baum to nine hits and was also perfect at the plate with three for three.

Eleven players, eight of whom hit over .350, were selected to the 1971 All-Area High School Baseball Team this week.

Of the three pitchers chosen for the honor roll, two of them also belted the ball at a .300 or better clip.

It adds up to this: That the 1971 mythical ball club is the most potent to be assembled in the area.

Among those selected are pitchers Lee Ballard (Romulus), Darryl Demaray (John Glenn) and Tony Kaseta (Livonia Franklin), catcher J.P. McBride (John Glenn), 1st Base, Dennis Ray (GC East), 2nd Base, Tom Battistone (Livonia Franklin), Short Stop Ken Sucharski (Cherry Hill), 3rd Base, Rich Fidh (Wayne Memorial), Outfielders(Butch Suemnick (Huron), Dave Barrows (John Glenn) and Dean Minton (Wayne Memorial).

Seven of the 11 players are holdovers from last year's squad and with only three underclassmen, McBride (Sophomore), Ray (Junior), and Battistone (Franklin) the '71 edition is dominated by seniors.

Ballard chalked up a 12-2 over-all record in leading Romulus to the last Twin Valley Conference title. He pitched 100 1-3 innings for the Eagles, gave up 45 hits and allowed 30 runs of which only 17 were earned.

He also whiffed 140 batters, walked 46 and wound up his career with a stingy earned run average of 1.17.

The Romulus senior also was effective at the plate, carving out a .409 average. He accounted for 16 runs batted in

Johnson shares coach of year accolades

It took Glenn baseball coach Norm Hoenes five years to build a championship team at the Westland high school and, after nine years at Romulus, Lowell Thompson, who has produced a couple of championship teams has called it quits.

The two coaches guided their respective ball clubs to league and district championships and today have been named to share Coach of the Year honors.

Hoenes, 32, equalled the school's victory record when the Rockets won 20 of their 29 contests this season. Glenn also captured its first Northwest Suburban Conference baseball title, splitting it with North Farmington.

The Rockets went on to claim the district Class A district crown, reaching the regional finals before Waterford Mott put a stop to the Westland team's ambitions.

A graduate of Olivet College, Hoenes majored in psychology and has also earned his masters in guidance and counseling from Eastern Michigan University. A strict fundamentalist when it comes to baseball, Hoenes believes that practice may not make one perfect, but it sure is the key to winning. He isn't able to place his finger on what forged Glenn's winning team that year, but ventures to say:

"I feel the boys were loose. I didn't use the whip, as the saying goes, and it appeared to relax the boys in that they weren't making the mental errors we had in the past." Married to Nancy, the Hoenes have two children, JoAnne who is 10-years-old and Erin, 2½.

After nine season as coach of the varsity baseball squad at Romulus, Lowell Johnson is bowing out in style, having today been named to share the honor of Coach of the Year with John Glenn's Norm Hoenes.

Johnson finished the season with a 17-3 mark and brought the Eagles to the district finals before losing to Monroe this year.

With an over all record of 84 wins, 68 losses and one tie, Johnson brought Romulus three Twin Valley Conference championships and runner-up spot in the state's first playoff tournament at the district level.

Pettus and the Olympics

By Dann Barkume

If there were anyone in this area who would have a shot at a berth on the U.S. Olympic Track & Field team, we would have to go with Belleville's phenomenal all-round athlete, Garrade Pettus.

Pettus, who was graduated last week from high school, has a year ahead of him to better his 6 feet, 8 inches performance that earned for him a silver medal in high jump at the recently concluded United States Track & Field Federation High School All-American Championships held in Lombard, Ill.

GARRADE PETTUS
Olympic Candidate?

Pettus was second only to Dwight Stones, of California. He leaped 6 feet, 9¼ inches to win it.

Pettus, guided by high school coach Ken Head, has become the best track prospect produced in this area.

Shooting for Munich may not be "an impossible dream".

"He has the talent, is a very hard-worker and I have little doubt in my mind that he could make the grade," said Head. "However, the road to Munich is a tough one.

Pettus is the area's first "All-American" prep track-man.

The first six finishers in each event were honored with High School All-American status. The award caps off a high school career which saw Pettus star in football, basketball and track. Pettus competed in four events in track, the high jump, long jump, high hurdles and low hurdles, and he holds the school record in each of the events, except the low hurdles.

Represented at the meet were some 30 states and Canada. Pettus flew into Chicago from New York where he had been on his senior trip all week. Coach Head, said that Pettus stayed in New York all week, then came to Chicago to compete in the national championships. His second place finish was highly praised by meet officials because Pettus is considered somewhat of a dwarf next to a lot of the high jumpers today. His six foot, 150 pound frame is exceptionally small and Pettus has to use a lot of extra effort to get the good height out of his jump.

Last week, Pettus also learned that his mother had given birth to twin boys while the Belleville senior was enjoying his vacation. In New York. Coach Head was exceptionally pleased, saying, "With two more coming, I just can't wait until they get old enough to run track. If they are anything like their brother, they should really be something."

Best Area has Produced in Track

Coach Head reflected on what it was like handling Pettus in high school.

"He is a natural athlete and I was extremely fortunate to start my coaching career with him on my team. He is a born leader, he kept in shape and he did anything I told him. It was great having him on the team."

Pettus uses the 'Foxbury Flop' approach in the high jump, that is, he jumps at the bar with his back facing the bar and gives the impression of flopping over, instead of the standard method.

Head said that Pettus wanted to try the new method in his sophomore year, two days before the regional meet. He tried it and cleared 6 feet 4 inches on his first attempt and has been using it ever since.

Pettus will continue with his track career after graduation. He is scheduled to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall on a track scholarship, where he will specialize in the high jump event.

"This will be good for Garrade," Head said, "It will give him a chance to concentrate instead of running four awards like he did at Belleville."

On tap for the summer are the national AAU championships and a possible berth for the National Junior Champ competition plus summer classes at Eastern Michigan.

Belleville sports enthusiasts have emulated Pettus. His spirit, ability and drive have made others want to copy him and he has put Belleville on the map as far as athletics is concerned. Coach Head called him "the finest athlete ever to come out of this area."

Pettus ended his high school career on a strong note with a second place finish in national competition. He now looks forward to a strong career with the Huron thincads and, with a little luck, he could become a standout track performer.

While the scramble continued for first place in the American Division, the Giants appear to be on the title track over the National division of the Belleville Little League baseball circuit.

The Yankees hold a slim half-game edge over the Tigers in the duel for first place in the American Division, and close on their heels are the Senators who have a 6-3 record.

Meanwhile, the Giants picked up ground in the National's as they won their ninth in 10 starts last week, padding their margin over the Cubs, who are presently 7-3 on the season.

In National League action last week, the Pirates (5-3) clobbered the Braves (5-4) as Steve Stillwagon provided the winners with a two-run homer and Pat Anguilm turned in a fire piece of relief work to sew up a 17-7 triumph.

The Cubs and the Mets continued to lock horns and decided a tie ball game with the Cubs coming away with a 9-8 victory. Smalen scored the decisive run.

The Cubs also trimmed the Mets 9-3 as the losers made the Cubs sweat early in the battle, scoring two runs on Leamon's double to grab an early lead. However, the Cubs sent 12 batters to the plate in the third inning and scored six runs - more than enough to take the victory.

and pounded two homers and seven doubles.
With Ballard on the mound, the Eagles also were able to win the district championship.

Kaseta, a 6 foot, 6½ senior right-hander, posted a 7-3 over-all record, going 59 innings. He had a phenomenal .945 ERA while he notched 55 strikeouts in his final season and gave up only eight earned runs.

Glenn, which captured its first Northwest Suburban Conference title and the district championship, reaching the regional finals before Waterford Mott (a state finalist) ousted them, placed three players on the All-Area squad.

Demaray, tough on the hill and, at the plate, is an all-round athlete who won letters in football, basketball as well as baseball.

On the mound, Darryl rounded out his prep career with a 7-1 over-all record. At the plate, he had 26 hits in 72 times for a hefty .361 average. He also hammered two homers and batted in 11 runs.

McBride was equally effective for Coach Norm Hoenes' Rockets. Only a sophomore, McBride managed to finish the year with an impressive .350 batting average, getting 27 hits in 77 tries, including three triples and four runs batted in.

The 15-year-old backstop could be the first area player to ever be picked for All-Area honors three years in a row.

Barrows is another one of those Rocket sluggers who had an outstanding season. He socked in 15 runs, connecting for 22 hits in 56 appearances at the plate. A flawless outfielder, Dave struck out only three times during the recently concluded campaign.

Also returning to their outfield posts are Suemnick and Minton. Both were chosen by their respective squads as the Most Valuable Player.

Butch, eyeing a baseball career, batted .467 for the season but whacked the ball at a .524 clip in the Huron Conference. He also had 13 runs batted in. Minton, a 5-8, 155-pound senior, wound up his prep career with a .330 average and, along with MVP honors, also was picked to the final Sauk Trail Conference team.

Handling the first base chores, Ray was a vital link to Garden City East's title aspirations in the Mid-Wayne. The 6-2, 175 pound junior rocked opposition pitchers with .450 batting average.

Ray also broke up a couple of no hit games, coming through with seventh inning safeties to frustrate pitchers who were on the verge of recording no-hitters.

Late-starting Battistone provided Franklin with the impetus that lifted the Patriots from their callender occupancy to a third place finish in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

In his 58 appearances at the plate, the Franklin second baseman cracked 20 hits, including five doubles, a triple and three homers. He also accounted for 11 RBI's.

Sucharski is another three sport man, excelling in baseball but proficient as both griddier and cager where he capably applied his speed and aggressiveness.

The MVP of the Spartan ball club, Sucharski batted .386 in his final prep campaign and resumed diamond action as a member of the Dearborn Heights, Stitt Post Legion team.

In his three seasons on Cherry Hill's varsity squad, Sucharski has never finished below the .350 batting level. He's a prime candidate for any college squad.

Fidh, who was a bright spot in a rather dismal Wayne year, has played third for the Zebras three years, earning All-Area recognition the last three seasons.

A better than .300 hitter, Rich is presently playing Legion ball as a regular for Wayne Post 111, the 16th District defending champions.

reasons for retiring as personal, has earned the respect of his players, the students, parents and fans for his dedication and leadership ability.

This is the second such honor for the retiring pilot, he was honored as Coach of the Year back in 1968, after turning around a dismal 1967 record into a winning season in '68.

A graduate of Western Michigan University in 1956, Johnson was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates, where he played in the minor leagues as an outfielder before entering military service in 1957. He returned to the Pirate farm system in 1959, but decided to retire from organized baseball as a player following the '59 campaign.

Upon notification of his selection, Johnson said, "I'm elated. I knew that Norm (Norm Hoenes) had a fantastic year, and I thought he would get the nod, but I'm really happy to be chosen to share it with him."

Johnson will continue at Romulus as a physical education instructor and admits that getting out of coaching will be tough. "I will hurt next spring when really enjoyed myself here and the students, players, fans and administrators have been just great to me. I know that it with it."

Three former Belleville High baseball stars are generating news on the diamond at Eastern Michigan University this season. The trio, Bruce Bara, Gary Gentle and Dick Wenzel, also has made the Associated Newspapers' All-Area '9' at one time or other.

Wenzel, on the freshmen squad has posted a perfect 3-0 pitching record, while Gentle, a catcher, is batting the ball around at a .289 clip and Bara, an outfielder, has compiled a .310 batting average.

All three boys played for Coach Vitold Kamininski while at Belleville High.

Seniors are guests at all-nite bash

THE COMMUNITY'S initial attempt at an all-night bash for its seniors turned into one heckuva party at Belleville High last Wednesday night. Comments from some of the grads themselves ranged from "The best party I've been to all year", "What a terrific band!", "I never had such a good time with my classmates" to "I didn't know some of the kids could be so much fun!"

The enthusiasm, cooperation and support of the seniors was the keynote to the party's success with further remarks coming from the custodial staff who praised the 300 revelers for their non-destructive non-litter attitude.

Under the sponsorship of the class parents, the event featured a seven-piece rock band, 'Salamagundy', (and I'm not too sure of the spelling but phonetically, that's the way I see it.) who not only played for dancing but put on a floor show which had the whole audience taking part. Then there were the pool and gym facilities for those who wanted a cool dip or fast game of basketball.

Coaches were on hand to oversee the athletic portion of the evening with many sets of parents taking their turn as hosts and hostess throughout the night. Another high point of the 11 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. party was the presentation of door prizes to the guests. Making the affair strictly non-profit, the sponsors distributed 36 five-dollar prizes in a drawing.

The complete success of the evening and the unmarred graduation night, it's felt, have paved the way for further commencement parties in the community.

Patkes hold open house

TRACKING DOWN a few graduation receptions over the week-end, we came up with leads on the Patke, Mills, Reinhackel, Orskey, Renton and Smith parties.

Sharon Patke was the honored guest Sunday from two 'til five as her parents, the Ernie Patkes of Greylock Street, opened their home to some 75 guests. Coming in from Tecumseh, Taylor, Allen Park, Orchard Lake and nearby cities, friends and relatives enjoyed a buffet lunch.

Employed part-time at Orr's Dairy Bar, Sharon will attend summer band school at the U-M come July and August. Then on July 20 she'll head for freshman orientation at Central Michigan where she'll also audition for the university band.

Glenn is going to Sweden

THE SATURDAY PARTY given by the Frank Reinhackels for their son, Glenn, included about 175 friends, relatives and classmates from Auburn, N.Y., Detroit, Grosse Pointe, Ypsi, Wayne, and the area. Swimming and a buffet set-up highlighted the three o'clock party with Sue Thompson, Gerry Liedel and young miss Jane Reinhackel assisting the hosts.

Early Monday Glenn was enroute to Saginaw Valley College for a two-day orientation period prior to his departure for Europe. Under the auspices of Youth for Understanding, Glenn will wing his way to Copenhagen, Denmark where he'll be met by his host family, then continue onto their home in the suburbs of Stockholm, Sweden. He'll be back in the States August 26.

Masonic Temple is party scene

INVITATIONS FROM the Francis G. Mills home asked guests to an open house for their son, Frank, at the Masonic Temple Sunday. About 125 attended the one 'til five event with a buffet dinner being served. Among the guests were Frank's 88-year old granddad, John S. Redlinger, who traveled from Convoy, Ohio for the occasion.

Others were from Findlay, Ohio, Pinckney, Coldwater, Tipton, Traverse City, and nearby cities.

Frank will enter Central Michigan University as an engineering student this fall. In the meantime he is spending the summer working at the Red Barn Produce Market on Ecorse Road.

Renton's entertain for daughter, Jan

OUT AT THE Sheldon Road home on the Jim Renton's Sunday, an open house was held for their daughter, Jan, another of the B.H.S. graduates. About 65 guests came from Gulliver in the U.P., Milan, Baroda, Willis, and Belleville for the two 'til five party.

Currently working at Orr's Dairy Bar, Jan will attend freshman orientation today and tomorrow at Eastern Michigan University where she will be working toward a degree in medical technology this fall.

MRS. JOHNNY R. WOOD

St. Roch's is scene of June nuptials

St. Roch's Catholic Church in Rockwood was the setting June 12 for the eleven o'clock wedding of Pauline De Backer of New Boston and Johnny R. Wood of Belleville.

Some 100 guests were assembled for the double ring rite presided over by the Rev. Valentine J. Kaznowski.

Mr. and Mrs. Julien De Backer of 22400 Huron River Drive, New Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny A. Wood of 21161 Otter Road, Belleville, are parents of the young couple.

FOR HER WEDDING day, Pauline donned an A-line dress styled of scalloped lace over satin. A white satin bow centered the high-rise waistline with lace forming the long, bell-shaped sleeves.

Her elbow-length veil was held by a crown of tear drop pearls and she held a cluster of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath resting on her mother's lace and satin wedding prayerbook.

In green lace over satin, styled identically to the bridal gown, Mrs. Guy Latondress of Gibraltar served as matron of honor. Her short veiled headpiece was secured by two yellow roses and she carried an arrangement of sweetheart roses atop a prayerbook.

The two bridesmaids, Bonnie Wood of Belleville and Kathleen De Backer of New Boston, were in similar green ensembles.

THE BRIDEGROOM asked his bride's brother-in-law, Guy Latondress, to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Larry Wood of Belleville and John De Backer of New Boston.

At the dinner reception at the home of the bride's parents, the 60 guests were greeted by Mrs. De Backer in a blue short-sleeved A-line dress and Mrs. Wood in a long-sleeved yellow frock with pleated skirt. Both mothers were presented with corsages of white carnations tipped in yellow.

The new Mrs. Wood is a 1971 graduate of Huron High School where her husband graduated in 1969.

After honeymooning for two weeks in the southern states, the bride returned to the home of her parents while the bridegroom resumed his duties with the U.S. Coast Guard at Yorktown, Virginia.

Nancy Corzine is now Mrs. Bruce E. Evans

Altar appointments of white chrysanthemums and lighted tapers formed the background May 29 for the afternoon wedding of Nancy Kay Corzine of Belleville and Bruce Edward Evans of 2780 E. Grand River, East Lansing.

The four o'clock nuptials at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville were read by the Rev. Charles Dibley and the Rev. Roger Arnett. Acolytes were the bridegroom's sisters, Laurie and Kathy Evans.

For the double ring rite, Thomas De Witt was at the organ to accompany Karen Vandecar as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

THE DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Corzine of 42883 E. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Nancy was escorted up the aisle by her father. For her wedding day she selected a gown of cameo ivory silk organza over taffeta combined with Venice lace. The empire bodice was designed with a high lace collar and long bishop sleeves accented with vertical rows of lace. From the lace-encircled waist, the skirt belled to a toe-touching hemline banded in lace. Back interest was created with a full circular train which swept into a chapel length.

A matching open-crowned silk cap held the bride's tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried an arrangement of stephanotis and orchids.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Robert Sanders, traveled from Brunswick, Georgia to serve as honor attendant. Her pale shrimp frock frosted with white lace trim was fashioned with a high neckline, bishop sleeves, a high-rise bodice, and formal-length skirt.

IDENTICALLY GOWNED in pale green were Kathy Kureth and Cynthia Burcroff, both of Belleville. All three carried bouquets of shrimp and white flowers.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Evans of 11430 N. Pine, Rochester, asked Robert Bellairs of Rochester to serve as best man and Donald Cracium of Rochester and Michael Spencer of E. Lansing to be ushers.

Scott Russell Corzine, the three-year old son of the Gordon Corzines of Cincinnati, Ohio, carried out the role of ringbearer at his aunt's wedding.

At the reception which followed in the fellowship hall, Mrs. Corzine received in an aqua dress with long sleeves and aqua lace accenting the cuffs and neckline. The bridegroom's mother chose a high-necked, salmon-colored shift for the occasion. Both were presented with orchid corsages.

AMONG THOSE attending the wedding were the bride's brothers, Dr. Donald Corzine from Scottsdale, Arizona, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Corzine and sons, Deven and Scott, from Cincinnati; as well as aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Stroup of Carbondale, Illinois and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Loomis of Webster Grove, Missouri. The bridegroom's relatives drove in from Rochester and Pontiac for the ceremony.

Pre-nuptial events included two bridal showers, a miscellaneous given by Mrs. Ollie Bush and a personal hosted by Kathy Kureth; and the rehearsal dinner which was held at the Dearborn Inn.

A graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Evans is attending Michigan State University as a speech therapy major. Her husband graduated from Rochester High School, attended M.S.U. and is now employed at Hi-Fi Buys in East Lansing.

After a brief wedding trip, the newlyweds made their home at 2780 E. Grand River, Apt. 519, East Lansing.

MOVING DAY AT LIBRARY — Romulus Public Library, located at 36541 Goddard Rd., is moving to the community's new Library Building on the northwest corner of Goddard and S. Wayne Rds. The new library is preparing for a June 28

Consumer Council provides outlet for customer frustration

There is a "rumbling of consumer frustration" about defective automobile parts; about dangerous toys; about dishonest advertising and deceptive credit practices.

Only when the rumbling becomes a roar will consumer demands be heard by manufacturers, says Diane McKaig, executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council. Miss McKaig spoke recently to a gathering of over 700 women attending Michigan State University's annual College Week for Women.

Miss McKaig stressed the council's concern for "good old-fashioned values."

"Basically," she said, "we think manufacturers should represent products honestly, respect the free enterprise system and 'love their neighbor.' They very seldom meet these provisions."

For example, Miss McKaig pointed out that manufacturers don't represent products honestly when tires represented as good for 40,000 miles only last for 2,000. And how much free enterprise is there when four of our cars, when three companies make all the country's cereal? Who can claim to love their neighbor when they produce children's toys which easily break to expose nails and sharp edges?

The consumer is being cheated in hundreds of ways, Miss McKaig said. And, since the federal agencies are too far removed from individuals, the state agencies show most promise for solving the problems.

The Consumer Alliance of Michigan, of which the Consumer's Council is a member, is a powerful federation of consumer interest groups, she pointed out. There is even a group of students at Western Michigan University who are working for fair practices for consumers, and student volunteers from MSU who assist Miss McKaig's council.

A group, a united front, has more power to bring about reform than any individual, no matter how angry, she said.

Nursery in need of facilities

The Romulus Pre-school Nursery is looking for a new home, announced Mrs. Jeannie Ursery, organizer for the YWCA sponsored activity.

"Because of crowded conditions in the school district the room we have been using three mornings a week for nursery activities will be needed for classrooms," Mrs. Ursery explained.

"The rooms have been condemned by the fire inspector for use as they are, but if the district does improve them to pass inspection they will naturally be used for elementary school students," she said.

More than 90 children this year have had the opportunity for social and organized play experiences through the "Y" sponsored program. The children have been meeting between 9 a.m. and noon three days a week in the Special Services Building on Washington St., Romulus.

"We have been very fortunate to have had the room generously donated for the past two years," said Mrs. Ursery. "The school district has given us every cooperation," she added.

The "Y" group will need a room large enough to accommodate about 30 active pre-schoolers; tables, chairs and nearby lavatory accommodations.

Anyone wishing to help may call Mrs. Ursery at 728-5045.

Local man wins high scout award

Fifteen volunteers, who have contributed a total of almost two centuries of unpaid service to Scouting under Catholic auspices in the Archdiocese, have been voted the Saint George Emblems. Among the award winners is Anthony Talaga of 92 Clarence St., Belleville.

This is the highest honor an adult leader of Catholic Boys in Scouting can earn. The award, which is presented in behalf of the National Catholic Committee on Scouting, is conferred upon leaders who by precept and example have inspired boys to become better Scouts and better Catholics.

For the first time since the inception of the award here, the list of honorees includes a woman, Mrs. Emma Landsberg, a Trenton housewife who was cited for her prodigious efforts in behalf of her Cub Scout Pack. Henry Vassel, director of the CYO Camping and Scouting Division, announced the award winners.

Fr. Edward Haggerty, Archdiocesan Scout Chaplain, will confer the award at a presentation ceremony at 3 p.m. this Sunday, at St. Agatha Church, Detroit.

Don Kluck is chairman of the St. George Emblem Committee and G. Sam Zilly is chairman of the Archdiocesan Catholic Committee on Scouting.

Marijuana research plays essential role

As a part of the fight to prevent and control narcotics and drug abuse, research plays an essential role, the importance of which is sometimes overlooked.

For example, one of the greatest needs connected with the problem of marijuana is for research to uncover new and solid knowledge about this controversial compound. There have been many lacks and gaps in our understanding of marijuana, such as precisely what happens to it when it is taken into the human body.

Now, research is increasing in this and other crucial drug fields and is beginning to pay off with new findings. These, bit by bit, will form a broad and accurate base of truly scientific information. From such a base we can determine just what kinds of approaches to make to attacking the problem.

A recent illustration of the new knowledge being accrued comes from laboratories of the National Institute of Mental Health, where a team of government scientists, including 1970 Nobel prize winner, Dr. Julius Axelrod, studied the fate of marijuana in man.

Their study, full significance of which is yet to be determined and which is part of continuing investigations to find out exactly how marijuana affects man, was presented in "Science," major publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

They found, using human volunteers in a carefully planned experiment, that marijunana remains in the bloodstream for more than three days and that it takes more than eight days for all of the chemical traces of marijuana to remove themselves from the body.

The scientists also found that the influence of the marijuana compound was rapid once it entered the body and traces appeared in blood plasma and in the brain within ten minutes after administration. They used tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), the active ingredient of marijuana, in their investigation.

From their study they concluded that the compound and its by-products produced in the body accumulate in tissues with repeated administration or regular use. They believe that it should be possible to develop useful tests, such as a sensitive assay for detection of marijuana in human urine.

This is interesting and even exciting research progress, but it is also well to remember that this new information is only one of many building blocks of knowledge that we must have for the ultimate conquest of the vast, complex problem of drug abuse.

A new drug treatment program is scheduled for Recorder's Court and a computerized record-keeping system will be installed at the county jail following approval of grant applications by the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

The Commission, which allocates funds authorized by the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, approved the financing for both programs at its June 10 meeting in Lansing.

Both the Recorder's Court grant and the jail information grant are a cash allocation, the former for $210,000 and the latter for $80,000. Both programs also require lesser amounts of cash or services from the county, which constitute the local contribution toward the programs.

The two programs were among a package of seven funded specifically for Wayne County cities or non-profit organizations which received funding from the Commission include the following:

Sumpter open house called large success

Sumpter Elementary School held its second annual Art and Science Open House last Thursday night.

The program was highlighted by a show put on by the school choir, panel shows put on by the first graders, Hawaiian food treats prepared by the second and third graders, as well as many interesting art and science projects exhibited throughout the school.

"The children and teachers worked long and hard to prepare all the exhibits. They weren't disappointed as one of the largest crowds of children, parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles ever to visit the school came flooding in," commented Thomas B. McLenon, principal.

"Miss Dina Greenway, art teacher, did a tremendous job in preparing this openhouse along with the rest of this fine staff."

Rep. Ford hails passage of job creating measure

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District, Michigan) today hailed the final passage of the Accelerated Public Works Act — a bill co-sponsored by the congressman, designed to provide immediate relief in the form of jobs for thousands of the growing number of unemployed Americans.

In praising his colleagues in both houses of Congress for passing the job-creating bill, Congressman Ford called upon President Nixon to put politics aside and sign the bill into law. There have been constant rumors emanating from the White House that the President would veto the legislation.

"Enactment of the Accelerated Public Works Act at this time of rising unemployment is extremely crucial," stated the Congressman. "The primary purpose of this legislation is to provide immediate relief in the form of jobs for at least some of the 5.5 million Americans who are now unable to find work."

In addition to creating an estimated 170,000 jobs almost immediately, the act would simultaneously provide communities hardest hit by unemployment with badly needed facilities such as road improvements, water and sewer works, hospitals and other public buildings.

Congressman Ford expressed his deep concern over the prospect of a presidential veto of this bill. "I simply cannot believe that the President would play politics with any legislation designed to create jobs for the unemployed," stated the Congressman, "especially in light of the President's own past comments on the issue."

The Congressman referred to an address by President Nixon in 1969 in which the President stated, "We intend to do everything we can to resist increases in unemployment, to help train and place workers in new jobs, to cushion the effect of readjustment."

"That was in 1969, a year in which the national rate of unemployment averaged 3.5 per cent," noted the Congressman. "Now in 1971, the national rate has climbed to an alarming rate of 6.2 per cent, and according to a member of the President's own Council of Economic Advisors, could continue to climb even higher."

"The rate of unemployment in Michigan is even more alarming," the Congressman continued. "Michigan's unemployment rate currently stands at 8.2 per cent, and in Wayne County, it is rapidly approaching 9 per cent. This means that there are almost 300,000 people unemployed in Michigan alone, and over half of them are in Wayne County."

The Congressman referred to the current state of the economy as a "shocking and dismaying comment on the

Nixon Administration's total failure to deal with the problem of unemployment and the economy in general. This Administration has simply failed to provide the American people with the leadership which it promised them."

"In passing this legislation Congress has demonstrated its willingness to fill the void created by this lack of leadership," explained Congressman Ford. "We are merely trying to help Mr. Nixon curb the rising tide of unemployment. We have a program to offer the American people, a proven program which will provide jobs. A similar program worked very successfully during the early '60's, and I sincerely hope the President will not deny the country the opportunity to benefit from this type of program again by vetoing the Accelerated Public Works Act."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

The 4th of July holiday is celebrated with no special religious significance. This lack of religious attachment is contrary to the customs, beliefs and behavior of our fore-fathers. In blunt language, some of them would turn over in their graves if they saw how we celebrate the holiday.

We owe gratitude to God for having placed our fore-fathers on earth at that particular time in history. They fought for human rights; for freedom against tyrannical rule. After they won the struggle, they considered victory NOT as rights won by them, but as God given privileges they were permitted to proudly participate in.

What sort of men were Washington, Adams, Madison, Franklin, Jay, Jefferson, Hamilton and all the rest? Watch for the illustrations next week that answer the question. It will be interesting. Don't miss it ...
